Autumn Weekend Bournemouth

Once again we stayed at the Marsham Court Hotel for the Old Time Dance Society Autumn Weekend in Bournemouth. The Marsham Court Hotel was excellent, friendly and helpful staff well-appointed comfortable rooms, delicious food, an excellent ballroom and comfortable lounge areas. The members always enjoy staying at this hotel and despite Storm Austen outside we were very comfortable inside. One or two brave souls ventured out on the Saturday but most members enjoyed catching up over a coffee and then lunch and a few drinks from the bar. The weather was better on the Sunday and a few hardy members enjoyed a swim in the sea!!! The AGM was well supported with 55 members attending on the Saturday morning. Business was quickly dealt with followed by coffee and biscuits and another chance to chat and catch up with the latest news. The Autumn weekend is another chance to enjoy three evenings of Old Time Dancing and once again we had three great programmes. Valerie Homewood and Rebecca Edwards got us off to a great start to the weekend with their programme. Paul Harding as Chairman with his wife Hazel led the Saturday night and Linda Fouracres-Rogers dancing with different members for each dance led the final evening with Grahame Baldwin acting as MC. The music for the event was provided by David Last, who played some wonderful music that was enjoyed by all the members. Another very successful event for the Old Time Dance Society that finishes another great year of Old Time Dancing, we are now looking forward to the three events for 2027.
